and Belgian Binders the Work of the United States Shows Up Well-Only One Woman Represented in the Collection.

The annual exhibition of rare bookbindings at Scribbers' opens to-day, and the specimens collected for this year's display will be on view entil a week from Wednesday. A very beautiful collection of the examples of the bookbinders' art has been brought together, and among the countries represented—France, England, Belgium and the United States—the work of the native bookbinders was of a character that stood well the test of comparison with the best of the foreign work. One interesting feature of the American books was the collection of bindings by Otto Zahn of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Zahn is little known to the New York public. and so much of his work an the present exhibition contains has never been shown here before.

Three of his books that are notably attractive in color and workmanship are "The Kasi-dah of Haji," a volume done in dark green crushed levant with an elaborate Oriental or namentation of the upper cover that is accom-plished chiefly through the inlaid red leather; a selection from the poems of Swinburne called "Felise," done in dark brown crushed levant, ornamented with an application of the Tudor rose familiar to the lovers of the Cobden-Sanderson bindings, with which Mr. Zahn's work is very worthy to be compared; and "Eylvie," by De Nerval, which Mr. Zahn has bound in board in red and ornamented with tooling in small dots. The decorations of the upper cover are in La Gascon style, Particularly charming in its combination of bird's-egg blue, gold and black is the binding of "The Story of Amis and Amite," also done by Mr. Zahn.

Other fine specimens of American work are by Stikeman and Co., R. W. Smith, Blackwell, and William Matthews. "A Book About Fans," done by Stikeman & Co., is most elabprately inlaid with open fans on a background of rich dark-blue crushed levant. Fans done light-colored leather are inlaid on the side and the back of the book, while the doublure. which is in pale-blue levant, is inlaid with bunch of fans inlaid in green, red, white, yellow, and brown. They are tied with a ribbon, inlaid in red leather, making the volume exen of the bookbinder's art, even if in the general effect it is less beautiful than some of other specimens. Another fine specime of the Stikeman bindings is a "Book of Royal English Book Bookbindings," done in dark-English Book Bookbindings," done in dark-blue crushed levant and tooled in a lace pattern which covers the entire surface of the bindings. Other books done by the Stikeman hindery are W. L. Andrews's "Jean Grolier" in brown crushed levant, with a Grolier pattern inlaid in dark blue, and W. L. Andrews's book on Roger Payne in green crushed levant, covered with a tooling of Roger Payne design very elaborately done.

A fine specimen of the work of the elder Matthews is shown bound in dark brown and elaborately tooled. It, is a copy of "The Life of Izaak Walton,"

Among the French binders represented in

Among the French binders represented in the present collection are Canape, Carayon, Chambolic-Duru, Champs, David, Gruel, Hardy, Hardy-Mennil, Lortic Fils, Mercier, Meunier, Marius Michel, Pougut, Ruban, Samblanex-Weckesser, Thierry, Trantz-Bauzonnet, and Vauhrin.

Claesaens, the Belgian, is represented by an edition of Rabelais in brown levant, and by "Less Bigarrures et Touches du Seigneur des Medicion of Rabelais in brown levant, and by "Less Bigarrures et Touches du Seigneur des Medicion is of yellow leather and the elaborate gold tooling adds to the highly ornamental effect of the decoration. One specimen of Canape's work is a curious cover of purple levant designed for a book called "Japanese Jingles." A branch of clematis with the yellow blossoms and the green leaves inlaid in colored leather on the purple background makes a combination as striking for the colors as its simplicity. The branch of flowers extends across the whole surface of the cover. One of Thierry's bindings covers one of the Greiler Club books. If Groller pattern, and the doublure in red is decorated with a Greek pattern in gold.

The English binders who have contributed to the exhibition are Hagyuley, Bedford, the Doves Bindery, De Coverly, Dent, Morrell, Rivière, Stoakley, Sirje, Suillivan, Tout, Watson, Zachnsdorf, and Miss Prideaux. To a copy of Holbein's "The Dance of Death" Zachnsdorf has given a binding in red levant ornately decorated with highly symbolic tooling. This is a series of designs consisting of a death's head, an arrow. a sythe man and the pride of the control with highly symbolic tooling. This is a series of designs consisting of a death's head, and arrow. a sythe more than the pride of the control of the same artist to "The Rose Garden of Persia," in which the brick-red levant covers are ornamented with a design of roses and branches combined in highly Oriental fashion.

Possibly the most valuable book in the entire collection is a first edition of Shakespeare's poens, done by Rivière. The Art of Music' has a dark-b

PAID RENT FOR HER POTATO STAND. Edttle Mrs. Kelly Sues the Firm Back of Her

Mrs. Eliza Kelly, who for more than a quarter of a century had a vegetable stand in front of the store of M. H. Moses & Co., dealers in teas at 205 Washington street, had an action on trial before Justice Giegerich of the Supreme Court yesterday to recover $7,000 from the members of that firm on allegations that they collected that money from her for the privilege of doing business there, although they had no of doing business there, although they had no right to do so. She sets up in effect that the firm, which is composed of Moses H. Moses and Henry M. Herrmann, was virtually renting to her the sidewalk that belonged to the city.

About three years ago the firm told her she saust find other quarters, and as she would not snove they complained to the Bureau of Incumbrances, which ejected her. Mrs. Kelly is a little, bent Irishwoman. She says she is 77 years old, but she looks older. She walks with a cane. She testified that she had paid at the rate of $\frac{x}{2}$ a week for the privilege of having her little stand there.

"Why, your Honor," she testified, "I was a solicitor for the firm, and a good one, too."

"How was that !" asked Justice Giegerich.
"Well, she replied, "all the Irish knew me around there, and they would ask me where there was a good grocery house, and I'd recommend Moses. They'd say they were all Jews, but I would bring them into the store and say to them: "There's the best of Irish here you ever saw."

The case was not concluded. The defendants

The case was not concluded. The defendants aver that they only charged for the space she used within the atoop line, and that all but about $1.500 of her claim is barred by the statute of limitations.

Myland and Bennett Get Five Years Each. ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 15,-Charles Hyland and George Bennett, who entered the residence of Frank H. Scott, President of the Century Company, in Reynolds terrace, this city, last month, while the family was away and stole about $50,000 worth of Parisian gowns, were sentenced to kwe years each in State Prison to-day.

A grocer in Bluffton, Ohio, suffered from heart trouble, caused by inflammatory rheumatism. One day he was reading .. Prohibition paper called New Era, published at Springfield, in the same State, and saw the advertisement of Ripans Tabules. The advertisement led him to think that the Tabules might do him some good, so he went to the drug store to buy a box, but they were not kept in stock. A traveling salesman happened to come along the same day, and the grocer incidentally brought up the subject of Ripans Tabules. The drummer had a bottle of them in his vest pocket, and he gave several Tabules to the grocer. The medicine helped the latter right away, and as he could not at that time buy them in the drug store, he wrote for a supply to the Ripans Chemical Co., New York, saying: "The Tabules greatly relieve my heart trouble." The demand for Ripans Tabules is increasing so fast that to-day there are few druggists who do not keep them.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANE TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores. For Five CENTS, The low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One doesn of the five-cent cartons (10 tabule) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cuts to the HIPANE CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

GAMBLING IMPLEMENTS BURNED. Destruction of the Results of Many Raids Begun at Police Hendquarters. Gambling tools and tables seized in many raids were destroyed at Police Headquarters yester-day. More correctly, the destruction of them was begun; it will be days before it is finished. The storeroom in which the collection had been piled up, some of it since the time of Superin tendent Walling, as evidence in cases, or as useless lumber, had been emptied, and the yard was full. Two laborers with sledge hammers were on hand. Chief McCullagh, whose duty it is under the law to receive the stuff from the property clerk and to cause its destruction, came down, said "Well, John," to Mr. Harriott, the property clerk, and "Go it, boys!" to the men with the sledge hammers. They fell to, and he went to lunch. Poker tables and fare lay-outs, roulette wheels and red-and-black outfits, sweat boards, policy books and all the other kind of gambling apparatus were banged in a common wreck. It was plain from the exhibit that the gambling industry had not shared in the reviving pros perity. The inlaid work of the old days, when perity. The inlaid work of the old days, when the town was run wide open, the coony and ivory and all that was missing. It was plain black walnut and veneer even, when the sledge hammer fell on it.

Some of it went into the furnace. The rest will go there with the poker chips. There was a good deal of noise, but no ceremony to speak of, about it. It was different in the old days when the Judges and the District Attorney came to look at the show and the Superintendent himself swung the axe. Superintendent Murray was the last who did that. Byrnes never paid any attention to the accumulation, and Mr. Conlin had no time. The law and the department rules simply require that the Superintendent shall see to it that it is destroyed.

Five thousand dollars, however, wouldn't begin to pay for what was smashed yesterday. Gambling tools and tables are costly. Five dollars would have paid for the whole lot when the sledge hammers got through with it.

BURGLAR USES CHLOROFORM. The Only Member of the Family Not Affected Causes Bis Arrest.

Isaac Rose, a painter, who gives his address s 98 Allen street, was charged in the Essex Market Court yesterday with chloroforming the family of Samuel Blau in the tenement at 7 Sheriff street early Sunday morning and stealing wearing apparel valued at $50.

The Blau family, consisting of Blau, his wife, and four children, Max, 20 years old; Celia, 12 years old; Sadie, 10 years old, and Hattie, 6 years old, occupy rooms on the first floor. Rose painted the rear window cases of the building during the past week, and in this way became familiar with the premises.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning the girl Sadle heard a noise and awoke in time to see Rose going out of a rear window with a bundle of clothing under his arm. When she acreamed he dropped the clothing and escaped. She continued to scream, but none of the other members of the family were aroused.

A number of neighbors were attracted by her screams, however, and they quickly ascertained that the rest of the family had been chloroformed. The police of the Delancey street station were notified, and, on the girl's description, they located Rose and later arrested him. Magistrate Cornell held Rose in $2,500 ball for examination. painted the rear window cases of the building

Attempts to Wreck Two Trains.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 15.-Erie No. 3, the last express train from New York each night, had a narrow escape from being wrecked near Sloatsburg on Sunday night. The train was running at a fast rate of speed, when the engineer discovered a pile of fishplates on the rail ahead. It was too late to stop, and the engine crashed into the obstruction and crushed it beneath its great weight. Luckily the wheels kept the track, but the steam pipe couplings were torn away. The train was stopped and the engineer and conductor went back and in vestigated. They found that a deliberate at tempt to wreck the train had been made. The plates had been piled upon the inside rall, so that the train would be thrown down the bank to the rocks below. Soon afterward, near the same place, an east-bound freight train crashed into a pile of ties, knocking the pilot off the engine, which, however, remained on the rails.
